

Ashlee Simpson talks about Botox and Melrose place

Contributed by David Castillo

You remember the series "Melrose Place"? Well, it's still around and its rankings are going down. To prevent this from happening, the producers are writing out the part of teen heartthrob Ashlee Simpson (Jessica Simpson's younger sister).

"Although I always knew her story would come to a final, insanely unpredictable end," Simpson commented in an interview. "Playing a creepy, unstable character was something I always wanted to do, so I jumped at the chance. Thanks to The CW and the entire cast and crew of 'Melrose Place' for allowing me this opportunity!"

The young actress/pop diva underwent plastic surgery in 2006 with a nose job. Sources also claim that she regularly takes Botox.

Simpson admitted that she had a nose job in 2008, but she says that she has never had Botox.